

CHARITY : JUSTICE WITHOUT : WITHOUT JUSTICE : CHARITY IS NOT CHARITY : IS NOT JUST

These two free symposia will bring together frontline agencies, topic experts, students, faith-based sector advocates, and social policy champions to examine the meaning, implications, and outcomes of charity and justice models for social support. Charity and justice imply different things: each is an important part for supporting individuals in immediate need and for helping them create a better and more dignified life. The implications of, and relationship between, these models is sometimes not well understood - which can lead to less than desirable outcomes.

Please join us as we engage in community dialogue on this important topic. It speaks to the heart of our social policy system.

CHARITY & JUSTICE 101

Meaning, implications, practical applications.
Overview, panel and group dialogue.

Date: April 30, 7-9 pm

Place: Innovation Works
201 King St.
London

CHARITY & JUSTICE: IN REAL LIFE

Discussions about how social service agencies apply these models to their work. The question: are we applying the right model for what we want to achieve?

Date: May 23, 7-9 pm

Place: Goodwill Industries
255 Horton St.
London
